PHILADELPHIANS AGREE ON 5 GREATEST WOMEN IN WORLD

Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, Mrs. Warburton and Mrs. Altemus Place Carrie Chapman Catt at Head of List in Reply to Chilean Pan-American Delegate's Request

Who are the twelve greatest American women? The National League of Women Voters has been asked by some of the delegates to the Pan-American conference, Senorita Graciela Mandujano, to select for her the names of twelve living American women about whom she will write articles for Chilean newspapers.

The League is asking everybody's help in answering the question: "Who are the twelve women our Chilean sisters may best adopt as leading lights?"

A number of prominent Philadelphia women have responded to the request and have made up their lists of leading women.

Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg places Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, president of the International Woman's Suffrage Alliance, at the head of the list.

"Mrs. Catt," she says, "is a stateswoman. She has made a great study of political science. She is the leading American woman."

Mrs. Thomas Winter, of Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, she ranks second.

M. Carey Thomas, retiring president of Bryn Mawr College, leads in educational work for women.

"President Thomas," says Mrs. Blankenburg, "has done a great deal to broaden the lives of women. As an educator, she is at the head of the women."

Miss Anna Gordon, president of the W. C. T. U., because of her organization work; Miss Agnes Reppeler, because of her essays; Mrs. Roberts Rinehart, for her entertaining novels, she also elects to the roll of the honored.

Jane Addams, of Hull House, she has done so much for the poor.

Miss Mary Leacock, of Denver, she says, is the leading woman lawyer. Her special work is settling estates, and she transacts a large amount of work for her Commonwealth.

Miss Maud Wood Park, head of the League of Women Voters; Harriett Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the National Committee of the Republican Party, and Mrs. Thomas Burdette, a member of a research committee sent to Mexico, she lauds as political powers.

"All my women," concluded Mrs. Blankenburg, "are honorable, brilliant women, and have something to tell our Pan-American friends as a result of their labor."

But the matter of selecting a list of a chosen twelve from all over this land of free and intelligent activity is not an easy task.

When questioned upon it, the Philadelphians all cried for merciful consideration, and said, "For goodness sake, give us time to think it over."

Mrs. Barclay Warburton, Mrs. Bessie Dobson Altemus and Mrs. George Horace Lorimer agree with Mrs. Blankenburg in five cases, i. e., Carrie Chapman Catt, M. Carey Thomas, Harriett Taylor Upton, Mary Roberts Rinehart and Agnes Reppeler.

Mrs. Altemus and Mrs. Lorimer include also names of Mrs. Medill McCormick and Princess Julia Grant Cantacuzene, a leader in the work of Russian relief.

Mrs. Lorimer would herald the work of two artists, Cecelia Beaux and Violet Oakley, and three wives of statesmen, Mrs. Warren Harding, Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

Mrs. Altemus includes Mabel Boardman, who has served in Red Cross work; Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the National Woman's Party, and Mrs. Barclay Warburton, for her work in rallying the women in the recent campaign.

Mrs. Warburton would not have the Pan-American ladies miss the inspiration of the lives and work of Anne Morgan, acting in the work of French reconstruction, nor Evangelina Booth, commander of the Salvation Army.

These are suggestions from Philadelphia to the Chilean chronicler of service and noble deeds.

Who will the chosen dozen be? Then the bandits ordered Honickman to turn around, and when he did so snatched him. His hands and feet were tied as he lay upon the floor. He was found unconscious by a customer who entered. Honickman was treated at the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital.

CHECK N. J. RABIES SCARE

All Dogs Chained Up in Pensauken Following Mad Dog's Invasion

With all dogs chained up at home and a liability of a $30 fine hanging over the heads of those who fail to keep them there, residents and police of Pensauken, N. J., have succeeded in checking an epidemic of rabies. A stray mongrel, which got loose in the prize kennels of Earle Felton, the police say, brought the disease to the town.

The most disastrous effects were in the Felton kennels, where it was necessary to shoot fifteen bird dogs. A cow belonging to Allan Felton, father of the owner of the kennels, was disposed of in the same way, she having been attacked by the mongrel when he first entered the place. Lester Felton, a younger son, bitten by one of the dogs from the kennels, was treated at the Cooper Hospital and suffered no ill effects.

Mrs. Altemus and Mrs. Lorimer include also names of Mrs. Medill McCormick and Princess Julia Grant Cantacuzene, a leader in the work of Russian relief.

Mrs. Lorimer would herald the work of two artists, Cecelia Beaux and Violet Oakley, and three wives of statesmen, Mrs. Warren Harding, Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth.

Mrs. Altemus includes Mabel Boardman, who has served in Red Cross work; Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, president of the National Woman's Party, and Mrs. Barclay Warburton, for her work in rallying the women in the recent campaign.

Mrs. Warburton would not have the Pan-American ladies miss the inspiration of the lives and work of Anne Morgan, acting in the work of French reconstruction, nor Evangelina Booth, commander of the Salvation Army.
